

Thanks again to all who attended the second Sixpenny Wood Exhibition on Wednesday 30th May. We were pleased to see another strong turnout and a positive reaction from the majority of visitors.

Matt Kelly, Development Manager from Your Energy Limited said: “85 people visited the exhibition in Eastrington on 30 May. The vast majority of people who came to see us were supportive of wind energy and our plans. We understand some of the more local concerns and hope that the reduction in turbines will alleviate people’s fears*. We have also encouraged nearby residents to contact or visit other wind farm developments so that they can see for themselves that these projects do actually add value to the local community. Indeed, we reinforce our offer to make these arrangements if people want to come along and see a working wind farm and visit people who live nearby. We hope to submit our planning application during June.”

*It was originally planned that the project was to be a 16 turbine wind farm but following feedback from our consultation work, including the exhibition in September and now that all of the assessment work is complete only 10 turbines will feature in the planning application.
